LIFE SENTENCES FOR THIRD TERM

Prisoner Makes Speech in Court, but Record Proves to Be Against Him.

Although Daniel Jones, alias J. R. Moore, made a creditable speech in his own behalf in the Circuit Court of Richmond yesterday, denying that he had been convicted twice prior to the present term, he was found guilty of having been three times convicted of felony, and was condemned to serve a life term in the State Penitentiary. The record seemed clear that when he was convicted the second time he admitted the circumstances of the case, and that on that occasion five years was added, which he served. Jones is a white man, and appeared intelligent.

Ed. Hainston was also found guilty of a third offense and was sentenced to spend the rest of his natural life in the State prison.

The following men were tried on the charge of having been twice convicted, and five years was added in each instance to the punishment given them by the trial jury: Charles Jones, Tobey Berry, George Bradley, Henry Anderson, George Murphy, John Jones, Richard Johnson, George Mack, James Lewis, Walter Skelwith, Joseph Allen, Nathan Jones, Chester Taylor, William Johnson, Henry Childress, Thomas Johnson, Pomp Scott, Richard Logan and Charles Davis.

Stores Condemned.
Building Inspector Beck yesterday notified several property owners to vacate unsafe buildings within ten days, and that the buildings must be repaired, remodeled or removed at once. The owners, occupants and buildings follow:

Chas. Traferri, 409-402 West Broad Street, occupied by Paul Valdrigi as a saloon, and M. Cohen as a dry goods store.

Brick stores, 208, 210, 212 North Seventh Street, occupied by W. A. Bantz, buyer, J. M. Kaufman, barber, and one vacant; property of the Keppler estate. Tenants on the upper floors ordered out some time ago.

In Bankruptcy.
John B. Culpeper, a salesman, yesterday filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States District Court through his attorney, George C. Fitzhugh. Liabilities amount to $553.20, with no assets.

JEWISH ORDER HAS PUBLIC SERVICE

Dr. Calisch Explains Aims of B'Nai B'Rith to Large Congregation.

Beth Ahabah Synagogue was filled nearly to its capacity last night at a meeting of the B'Nai B'Rith, which was open to the public, when the aims and objects of this great Jewish order were explained by Dr. E. N. Calisch. Translated, the name of this organization is "The Sons of the Covenant." Its work is world-wide in its scope, and its chief object is for the benefit of the race which embraces its membership.

The meeting was presided over by the usual Sabbath service, conducted by Dr. Calisch, rabbi of the synagogue. Following this, Edwin L. Levy, president of the Richmond B'Nai B'Rith, opened the ceremonies incident to the meeting and introduced Dr. Calisch.

The speaker referred to the work of the order in the past and what it hopes to accomplish in the future. Its aims and objects formed the subject of his remarks.

One of the features of the evening was the rendition of Gounod's oratorio, "Gallin," by a chorus of thirty voices. The dramatic solos of Mrs. John A. Murphy, soprano, were especially enjoyed. The organist was Jacob Reinhardt.

NOT A CANDIDATE
J. M. Lewis, of Essex, Will Not Return to House of Delegates.

An announcement is expected to be made by a committee of the House of Delegates, which was made yesterday by James M. Lewis, of Miller's Tavern, who states that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature from the counties of King and Queen and Essex.

Mr. Lewis has served four consecutive terms in the House and has become known as one of those men known as "solid," with convictions of his own. It was reported that he would have had opposition had he been renominated, but he thought some other good citizen of his district should be given an opportunity to seek legislative honors.

In his announcement Mr. Lewis expressed deep appreciation he feels of the kindness and support given him by the people of his district.

W. H. Walker, of Walkerton, yesterday announced that he would be a candidate to succeed Mr. Lewis, following the latter's withdrawal.

"WHEN THE LID IS LIFTED"
Dr. L. B. Warren Will Address Y. M. C. A. Meeting To-Morrow.

The series of men's meetings under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be continued through the spring months. The speaker for the coming afternoon at 7:30 o'clock will be Dr. L. B. Warren, pastor of the Second Baptist Church. He was chaplain of the Third Georgia Regiment during the Spanish-American War. He has had pastorates in Florida, Texas and Chicago, and just before coming to Richmond was pastor of one of the most influential churches in Kentucky. During his three years there, there were 700 additions to the church, and the Sunday school attendance tripled.

The meeting to-morrow afternoon will open with an illustration of the song promptly at 7:30 o'clock, in the association auditorium, on Grace Street, just west of the building. Dr. Warren's subject will be "When the Lid is Lifted."

MR. WOOLLEY SPEAKS
Temperance Orator Addresses Audience at Seventh Street Church.

Many members of the Woman's Temperance League of America and their friends last night heard John G. Woolley, well-known orator of Fremont, speak in the Seventh Street Christian Church.

Guests of the league included Governor Mann, Rev. H. D. C. MacLachlan, Dr. D. R. H. P. Atkins, Rev. J. D. McArthur, Rev. Thomas Sommers, Rev. F. T. McFagan, Dr. D. and Rev. W. C. James, D. D.

Mr. Woolley is an active worker in behalf of the temperance movement, and his discourse upon this subject last night proved intensely interesting to those who are lending their aid to the cause.

The orator took an active part in the convention of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League, which ended this week in Newport News.

DISMISSAL OF CADET TELLS HIS STORY

Gets Pointed Reply From Friend on Question of Students' Honor.

BOYS "STOOD BY" CLASS
Citizen Says Appeal to Honor Is Often Used as Dangerous Tool.

Additional explanation of the troubles which led to the dismissal of the third class at the Virginia Military Institute, from the point of view of the cadets, is to be found in correspondence here reproduced by The Times-Dispatch. One of the men dismissed wrote to a friend, a leading citizen of the State, not a member of the board of visitors, detailing the affair as it appeared to him.

The reply, which is couched in kindly language, does not attempt to mince words. The two letters prove a most interesting addition to the public information on the subject. The communication of the student was, in part, as follows:

"The only man caught doing anything out of the ordinary was a second classman. He was reported for throwing combustibles, and got his penalty tours for it all right. Then, although the commandant had no proof, and, in fact, no reason, he believed that the third class was mixed up in the mess, he became very severe on our class.

"The next day the commandant called Webster, our class president, down to his office and told him that if another bomb was fired the extra guard would be posted until June 13, and he called this a compromise. Of course, we could not answer for what others did.

"That night two of our classmates were caught in a way which did no credit to the man that caught them. One was caught because he refused to certify to the answer of an incriminating question, the other was caught getting ready to fire a bomb. Meanwhile the class was under arrest, and all of us were subjected to a search. Signed a pledge that if the men were shipped that we would all go with them, or at least resign. This pledge was signed by all our men except four, and, of course, the third class rats.

Decided to Leave.
"At tattoo Sunday night an order was published shipping our classmates. After taps that night we held a secret meeting, and decided to move out in a body after returning from breakfast the next morning. This was done, and we went in an orderly fashion. Our president and vice-president went to General Nichols later in the morning to tell him that if he reinstated the men he had dismissed we would return to barracks immediately. He refused absolutely.

"About 9:30 we marched up to barracks at attention in order to get our trunks. We were very orderly and refused to create any disturbance. The commandant refused to let us get our trunks, and informed us that we could not return to the barracks until we had signed a pledge to move out of limits until the order was read out concerning us. We about-faced and marched down town. Still at attention and at 3 P. M. we were told that we had been dismissed and to get our trunks out of the barracks. We got ready and moved out, and at retreat the order was published shipping us all. Three men broke their pledge of honor to leave and stayed behind. I caught the 7 o'clock train and came straight home.

"I regret exceedingly that we have been shipped, but that was a matter of honor with me, and I did what I thought was right and I'll stick to it. I'm glad I stayed with the class and I would like to have your opinion on the matter."

Unsuccessful Performance.
The response was as follows:
"Your letter received. It was with the deepest regret that I heard of the disgraceful performance of your class at the Virginia Military Institute. There is no use in asking me for my advice at this late date. If you had asked for it before you were shipped, your own judgment, I might have been of service to you. The whole thing is the same old story. Those who have shipped nothing to do with it, and who shipped seize the opportunity to pull the good men down with them, and by the action of the latter to hide from the eyes of their parents their own deficiencies. As you grow older you will find that you could not possibly owe your classmates as high a duty as you owe your parents, and when a question of honor was involved, you should have regarded your own name as a soldier, and not the name of your father and mother before signing any pledge. This would have been far more honorable than signing the pledge which you did.

"Mankind is never perfect. When a man voluntarily becomes a soldier he does so with a full knowledge of the above fact. It is, therefore, neither manly nor soldierly to endeavor, by the action of the latter to hide from the eyes of their parents their own deficiencies. As you grow older you will find that you could not possibly owe your classmates as high a duty as you owe your parents, and when a question of honor was involved, you should have regarded your own name as a soldier, and not the name of your father and mother before signing any pledge. This would have been far more honorable than signing the pledge which you did.

"The meeting to-morrow afternoon will open with an illustration of the song promptly at 7:30 o'clock, in the association auditorium, on Grace Street, just west of the building. Dr. Warren's subject will be 'When the Lid is Lifted.'

WILL NOT ABANDON POLICY OF ROAD

Chesapeake and Ohio Will Make Improvements in Spite of Rate Decision.

TO SPEND SIX MILLIONS
No Orders for Additional Equipment for System Will Be Canceled.

Commenting on the recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission, by which the railroads are denied the proposed raise in rates, President Geo. W. Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio, stated yesterday that while the decision would largely affect the receipts, his company would continue its policy of development, much as though it had been favorable.

It had been expected, he said, that in view of the greatly increased cost of operation the roads would have been allowed to increase their rates accordingly. The proposed schedule, which he thought just, The Chesapeake and Ohio, he said, was strong enough to take care of itself, and regardless of the slight flurry in the stock early yesterday morning, which later on blew over, would continue its progressive course.

Big Improvements.
The budget this year calls for the expenditure of about $5,000,000 for improvements. When the budget was drafted, it was expected that the increase in rates would be allowed. In view of the refusal of the commission to grant the request, Mr. Stevens said that the full amount would be spent. He also stated that the double tracking on the Cincinnati division would be completed. There are yet about eight miles of rail to lay.

President Stevens said also that none of the large orders for equipment would be canceled and that the contract for new quarters in the proposed First National Bank on the site of the Chamber of Commerce.

Among the equipment already ordered by the Chesapeake and Ohio are forty passenger coaches, ten passenger locomotives, twenty-five freight locomotives and about 200 flat cars. Ten passenger locomotives and fifteen passenger coaches have been ordered for the Hocking Valley line.

LEAVES $73,000
Will of Captain George Watt Taylor Admitted to Probate.

Mrs. Sallie A. Taylor qualified yesterday in the Chancery Court as executor of the will of Captain G. Watt Taylor. The estate is valued at $73,000.

Under the provisions of the will one of Captain Taylor's sons, I. T. Taylor, is given $500, and a special bequest is made in trust for the children of I. T. Taylor. The document was written wholly in the handwriting of Captain Taylor, and dated April 13, 1904. Several codicils were added subsequently.

Under the will, Mrs. Sallie A. Taylor, the widow, is to have the residence on Twenty-eighth and Grace Streets, with all household and kitchen furniture. The executrix is directed to sell the stock of goods in the grocery stores conducted by Captain Taylor, and from the proceeds of the sale John W. Goode, minor, is to have the first and second wives of Captain Taylor. To John W. Goode is left the house and lot at 223 North Twenty-fifth Street, to be held in trust for the children of I. T. Taylor. When the youngest of the children shall have reached the age of twenty, the property is to be sold and divided.

The will was witnessed by L. H. Kemp and W. F. Smith.

DOCTORS RETURN
Physicians Back from Tri-State Meeting at Raleigh.

The Richmond doctors who attended the meeting of the Tri-State Medical Association at Raleigh returned yesterday afternoon at 10 o'clock. Among them were: Doctors J. A. White, J. N. Upshur, J. Allison Hodges, R. S. Bosh, Jr., E. H. Terrell, Charles Edwards, J. Shelton Horsley, Douglas Vanderhoof, A. L. Gray, H. S. MacLean, Robert C. Bryan, George H. Johnston, L. T. Price, M. O. Burke, B. B. Tucker, Murat Willis, A. G. Brown, Jr., J. J. Haynes, W. A. Gills and J. C. Walton.

Dr. J. A. White, president during 1910, made a masterly address, which was ordered to be printed. Practically all of the Richmond physicians read papers on extraordinary cases which had come under their personal notice.

Dr. Howard Way, of Waynesboro, N. C., was elected president to succeed Dr. White, and Dr. Anderson, of Front Royal, Va., was elected vice-president from Virginia. The place of meeting next year will be at Columbia, during the month of February.

Noble to Be Appointed.
It seems to be the opinion among members of the Board of Health that the formal action of the board has been taken. The Acting Inspector E. M. Noble will succeed the late W. T. Holdsworth as food inspector of the city. Mr. Noble has acted for Mr. Holdsworth since he was taken ill. He was formerly a member of the Board of Hygiene.

There is a contest for the position to be vacated by Mr. Noble. John J. Pinegane, formerly a deputy city sergeant, is now acting as deputy inspector in place of Mr. Noble, and is a candidate for the position.

Association to Meet.
Some matters of importance to the First Regiment Association will come up for consideration at its regular monthly meeting, to be held Monday night, February 27, at the Regiment Armory.

COUNCIL ADOPTS ANNUAL BUDGET

Provides Music for Parks, This Being Only Material Change.

NOW GOES TO ALDERMEN
Clay Ward Delegation Loses Fight for Third New White School Building.

With a single amendment providing for music in the parks at the expense of the item for paving alleys, the Common Council last night adopted the annual appropriation ordinance as it came from the Committee on Finance, carrying a total of $3,661,537.67.

It also adopted the resolution after several hours of debate, authorizing the erection of one white school in the western and one in the eastern section of the city, to cost to cost $10,000. While the resolution does not specify, there was a tacit understanding that the two schools to be replaced this year would be Bellevue, at Twenty-second and Broad, and Madison, at Madison and Cary, Springfield and Sidney, to come later.

A vigorous effort was made by the Clay Ward delegation, under leadership of Mr. Umlauf, to make the resolution provide for three schools, so that plans for the new Sidney School could be prepared for next year. But the Council finally adopted the resolution as it came from the Committee on Finance, which is in accord with the original request of the School Board that the city provide for new buildings $200,000 for each of the two coming years, so as to expend $600,000 in replacing old buildings within five years.

Petersburg Delegation.
The Council has as its guests a delegation from Petersburg, composed of R. B. Wilcox, Jr., president of the Common Council; M. T. Patterson, chairman of the Committee on Finance; W. E. Moore, a member of the Board of Aldermen, and G. B. Gill, clerk of the Council and Auditor. President Peters welcomed the delegation, who have come over to hear the debate on the largest appropriation ordinance ever considered by any municipality in Virginia.

Mr. Pollard offered a resolution extending to the visitors the courtesies of a rising vote, which was adopted by a rising vote. Mr. Wilcox, who presided, briefly in praise of Richmond as the capital city of the Commonwealth, and commented on its wonderful growth.

The budget was read item by item. The expected fight on the appropriation of $10,000 for advertising the resources of the city was not materialized. Mr. Hirschberg withdrawing his motion since securing an opinion from the City Attorney on the subject.

Objection was raised to an item of $4,116.49 for repairs to the Howitzer Army. Mr. Pollard explained that the item was for repairs to the Howitzer, which was damaged by the explosion of the battery to raise one-half. The city provided its half, but it proved impossible for the company to raise the fund. Five thousand dollars was appropriated to the fund last year, and the item this year, Mr. Pollard said, would wipe out the debt on work done nearly two years ago. The item was allowed to stand.

The reading then went on without objection until an item of $10,000 was reached for grading and paving alleys for owners, including work under tract. Mr. Lynch moved to amend by striking out $10,000 and making it $6,250, so that the remainder, $3,750, might be used for music in the parks.

He explained that under the present system it was impossible to do such work except where the property owners released the city from damages, and that but a small part of last year's appropriation had been used. Mr. Mills reminded him that the Street Committee had asked for $50,000 for this purpose, and had only been allowed $10,000. Mr. Pollard thought the paving of alleys a very necessary work that ought not to be reduced. He believed that the Association of Damages to the work could be accomplished better than heretofore.

The vote to amend, which was practically a test on the music item, resulted 22 yeas, as follows: Brown, Butler, Cease, Ferguson, Huber, J. G. Gill, Hirschberg, Huber, Jones, Lumsden, Lynch, Pollock, J. C. Powers, J. T. Powers, Rogers, Seaton, Selph, Sullivan, Vanderlehr, Workman.

Nominees Messrs. Watkins, Blake, Bradley, Davis, Mills, Pollard, Umlauf, Wilshire, Peters.

Music in Parks.
The appropriation of the remaining $2,250 to music in the parks was then adopted. Although doubt was expressed whether the item might result in delaying the budget should the Board of Aldermen, which has already rejected the item and refused to reconsider, again refuse to vote for music, in conditions as to the sewerage for the State Fair Grounds was adopted, and the budget was then adopted as a whole.

The resolution for schools followed, and notwithstanding the efforts of the Clay Ward delegation, was adopted as recommended. Mr. Umlauf told of visiting many of the schools and conditions he saw. Mr. Pollard had visited Sidney School with Mr. Umlauf, and he had been told that conditions much better than he had been led to anticipate, except that there were too many children. He did not want the Council to go crazy over schools and force the city into a bond issue, regardless of the price and of the demand for city bonds and of the city credit. The Umlauf substitute to provide plans for three white schools this year was rejected, 5 yeas, the only yeas being Messrs. Davis, Powers, J. T. Seaton, Umlauf and Peters. The resolution was then adopted, carrying a total of $200,000 for new buildings.

Reck's Salary.
The Ordinance, Charter and Reform Committee reported an ordinance increasing the pay of the Building Inspector from $2,500 to $3,600, and under the rules it went to the Committee on Finance.

The same committee also reported two ordinances reducing the fees of the Collector of Taxes and the Commissioner of the Revenue, both of which went to the Committee on Finance.

Immediately after adjournment President Robert Whittey issued a call for a meeting of the Board of Aldermen for next Thursday night to act on the budget and accompanying school resolution.

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO KILL AFRICAN

YOUNG PHYSICIAN DIES SUDDENLY

Sundry Offenders Gathered In by Police on Varying Accusations.

Annie Robinson, of Afric hue, and, evidently, evil tendency, was arrested last night on a charge of shooting at Abraham Hartnell, with intent to kill. It was stated positively that she intended to kill him, not to scare him. But her aim was bad, and the bullet spent its effort in the air until it fell to the ground. It will be picked up in after days, and treasured as a ball that was fired around Richmond in some ancient day. Historians may disagree over it, but no one would disagree that Annie was a bad girl, and a discarded pistol.

Moses Green, colored, also faces one of Justice Crutchfield's "life" terms, for he is charged with stealing two quarts of whiskey from the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad. It didn't actually belong to the railroad, for railroads don't drink whiskey. It belonged to some man to whom it was shipped via said railroad, but the railroad is held responsible, consequently the railroad looks the officer who discovers the offender.

Moses didn't get many drinks from the two quarts, but he had enough beneath his leather to sing that old, familiar song, "One More Drink Won't Do No Harm."

Sam Brown, colored, was locked up on a charge of using a knife on one Mary Jackson, with intent to carve her into little pieces. There was enough of Mary to swear out a warrant, and there will be enough of her to appear in court, the officer who discovers the offender.

Against Robert Finnelly, who is now sojourning in the Little Cabin by the Shockoe, was sworn out another warrant, so that his sojourn will be of sufficient length for him to recuperate. He is charged with interfering with Miss Mary E. Eacho.

BOYS IN TROUBLE
Theft of Bicycles Charged Against Certain Small Fry.

Three twelve-year-old boys—James Matthews, James Davis and Ernest Jennings by name—were arrested last night on suspicion of having stolen several bicycles. Reports of stolen bicycles come very frequently to police headquarters, and several thefts were narrowed down, it is alleged, to these boys.

One little urchin, who was also suspected of rarely washing his face, admitted the trio and another helped themselves to a very frequently stolen bicycle. There was another boy in the crowd. But he didn't get a wheel, possibly because he couldn't find one.

His father, a hard working man, came in to bail them. Tears coursed down his face because of the grime of many streets and the dust of all the winds, and the little fellow appeared ashamed of what he had done. He gazed at his father, and sobbed again. But it was said by his parent that he had been a bad boy as a result of his companionship, and had been expelled from school. It was rather a hopeless outlook for both.

DEAD LONG TIME
Friend Calls on Miss Lucile Foote; She Had Succumbed to Heart Disease.

Miss Lucile Foote, sixty-three years old, who lived at 2421 Venable Street, was found dead yesterday. She had been missed for more than a day, and yesterday a friend went to call on her. On entering the house, she found the keyhole, and saw her lying in the middle of the floor. The door was broken open, and she was seen to be dead.

Conner Taylor was summoned, and he pronounced death to have been due to heart disease.

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.
The United States Circuit Court of Appeals met yesterday, with Circuit Judges Goff and Pritchard and District Judges Dayton and Connor in attendance.

Eugene Mackey, of Pittsburg, Pa., was admitted to practice in this court. The following case was argued: No. 1015.—E. H. Jennings et al., plaintiffs in error, vs. John W. Davis, defendant in error; in error to the Circuit Court at Clarksburg, W. Va. Cause argued by Eugene Mackey, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Thomas P. Jacobs, of New Martinsville, W. Va., for the plaintiffs in error; and by John Bassel, of Clarksburg, W. Va., for the defendant in error, and submitted.

To-day being conference day, there will be no cases in the call for argument, but the court will hold a conference session on the cases heretofore argued and submitted.

The following opinion was handed down yesterday afternoon: Mary D. Dickinson and Samuel White, plaintiffs in error, vs. E. H. Huntington, Arabella Huntington, heirs and devisees of C. P. Huntington, deceased defendants in error; in error to the Circuit Court, Southern District of West Virginia, at Charleston. Affirmed, with costs.
